Thanks for subscribing to FPO Magazine!

[FPO] focuses on the creative side of publishing a magazine, so it's especially suited for designers—and designers in training—as well as publishers, writers, editors and production managers. Every issue of [FPO] will be chock full of great ideas and inspiration.

In its pages, you'll find solutions for working more creatively; examples of feature layouts, cover templates, TOCs and department treatments; and reviews of publishing software, hardware, and design books, new and old. [FPO] offers step-by-step instruction on the nitty-gritty details of everyday magazine creation, from image correction in Photoshop to insider tips for InDesign and Quark, plus a healthy dose of real-world publication philosophy and attitude tossed into the mix.

As principal and creative director of AURAS Design, a custom publisher and communications firm located in Washington, D.C., I've been designing other publishers' magazines for over 20 years. Our studio's near quarter-century of hands-on magazine experience guides every page of [FPO].

[FPO] makes a great teaching aid... and for your students, a resource to help them with challenging assignments. If you have any comments or questions about [FPO], please contact Robert Sugar at editor@fpomagazine.com.

Thanks again!

Robert Sugar, Publisher
